

New Széchenyi Plan (ÚSZT)

The New Széchenyi Plan is the national strategic reference framework of Hungary that offers a basic action plan for the last 3 years of the 2007-2013 programming period. The ÚSZT has 7 break-out points to strengthen the economy and increase the employment:

1. health industry
2. development of green economy
3. residential property policy
4. development of business environment
5. transit economy
6. science - innovation
7. employment

The Science–innovation programme serves the knowledge economy and means a basis for the new R&D&I strategies and programmes being prepared by the National Innovation Office.

Main priorities of the Science–innovation programme:

horizontal priorities:

- a. development of human resources
- b. well defined enterprise-development tools to give better chance for innovative firms
- c. boost international cooperation
- d. restructuring the government management system that affect the national innovation processes

sectoral priorities:

- e. mobility, automotive industry and logistics
- f. health industry
- g. informatics and computer techniques
- h. new energetic and environmental developments that supports the safety of society
- i. agriculture
- j. creative industries

More information: <http://ujszechenyiterv.gov.hu/>